GILBERT A THORN IN REPUBLICANS' SIDE

And Proving Great Help to Democrats, Says Rodes Terrill Home For Primary

Rodes S. Terrill, private secretary to Congressman Ralph Gilbert, got in from Washington Wednesday, and will be at home till after the primary election Saturday. Congressman Gilbert went on to his home at Shelbyville, also to vote in the county primary there.

That Ralph Gilbert is making one of the best Congressmen ever sent to Washington from the 8th district, and is recognized as one of the coming leaders on the Democratic side, is declared by Mr. Terrill. He says that Gilbert is proving an able speaker, and is giving the republicans many sleepless nights.

Terrill says that the republicans at the capital are badly tangled up in their legislative work and the predictions are already being made at the capital that the democrats will elect the next president.

Terrill likes his work fine with the Congressman and wants the people of Madison to always write whenever they desire the congressman or him to do anything for them. He has become a very proficient shorthand writer already and takes all of Gilbert's speeches and during his spare time, has commenced the study of law at Georgetown University.

TRYING TO AGREE ON TAX REVISION

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Aug. 3.—The Ways and Means Committee republicans today resumed their work on tax revision. They faced with doubt the task of cutting down the nation's tax bill and composing divergent views as to means of its accomplishment. A fight in the committee against elimination of the higher income surtax is forecast but leaders expressed confidence it will be contained in the bill. Repeal of the transportation tax appears to be another subject about which there is a wide difference of opinion.

He sits in his magnificent office," Slattery continued, "for upon the veranda of his beautiful home and merrily nods his orders to those under his control. FELL 53 FEET AND BROKE COLLAR BONE

Wm. Dickerson was brought to the Patti A. Clay Infirmary from Irvine on a hand-car, suffering with a broken collar bone, which Dr. O. F. Hume set. Together with a crew of men, Dickerson was engaged in throwing logs off a bridge. One had a spike in it and the spike caught in Dickerson's glove, dragging him overboard with the log as it fell to the ground 53 feet below. There were a number of logs already on the ground, but Dickerson luckily did not strike any but fell on the earth, and luckily escaped with only the broken collar bone and a lot of bruises. The fact that he fell from such a height and was not injured more seriously was held to have been remarkable.

Five Members of White Sox Acquitted of "Throwing" Games But Can't Get Back

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, Aug. 3.—Judge Landis, national baseball commissioner, today announced that none of the American League players who were acquitted last night of an alleged attempt to throw the 1919 series, has any immediate prospect of being restored to organized baseball.

"Regardless of the verdict," the statement said, "no player who throws a ball game, enters into proposals or promises to throw a game or who sits in a conference where the throwing of a game is discussed and dares not promptly tell his club about it, will ever play professional baseball."

Players Are Acquitted

Chicago, Aug. 3.—The seven former Chicago White Sox baseball players and the two others on trial for alleged conspiracy to defraud the public in throwing the 1919 world series games, tonight were found not guilty by a jury. The jury took only one ballot.

The verdict was reached after two hours and forty-seven minutes of deliberating by the jury, but was not returned until forty minutes later, Judge Hugo M. Friend being out of court when the decision was reached.

The defendants were: Buck Weaver, third baseman; Oscar Felsch, outfielder; Charles Riesberg, shortstop; Arnold Gandil, first baseman; Claude Williams and Eddie Cicotte, pitchers, and Joe Jackson, outfielder—all former White Sox players—and Carl Zerk, of St. Louis, and David Zerk, of Des Moines.

Announcement of the verdict was greeted by cheers from the several hundred persons who remained in the court for the final decision, and shouts of "Hooray for the clean Sox."

Judge Friend congratulated the jury, saying he thought it a just verdict.

BROKE HIS ARM WHILE PITCHING

Russell Turpin Suffers Peculiar Accident While Twirling For Methodist Nine

One of the queer things in baseball happened on the Normal diamond in the game between the Methodists and the Second Christians when Russell Turpin, who was pitching for the Methodists, broke his right arm in an attempt to deliver the ball to the plate.

At the beginning of the season Turpin had pitched a full game without any practice. This left his arm in a bad condition. It was very sore, but seemed to be recovering. A week or two ago he pitched a game at Waco. In the first part of the game he was pounded hard but toward the last he settled down and shut out the Waco team for several innings. This game made him think he had entirely recovered and that he might help the Methodists out of the cellar. The game was too much for him and in the fourth inning, while pitching to Wash Dykes, he broke his right arm just above the elbow. Turpin says he was trying to throw an inshoot.

Turpin stopped suddenly and walked in from the mound, saying he believed his arm was broken. Dr. Sandlin, who was present, examined the member and pronounced it fractured above the elbow. He took Mr. Turpin to town and soon had it set. Turpin stood the ordeal gamely. He is a popular member of the staff of the Madison Laundry.

Georgia Breaking Records With Melons and Peaches

Shipments of watermelons and peaches from Georgia for the 1921 season have surpassed all previous records. According to figures compiled by the Southern Railway System from official sources 10,264 cars of peaches had been shipped from Georgia up to July 22, and the crop is expected to run above 10,600 cars. In 1920 Georgia shipped 5,663 cars of peaches. With a great part of the watermelons still to be shipped, Georgia has already passed the total for 1920. Up to July 16, Georgia has shipped 10,110 cars of watermelons and the shipments since that have run above 150 cars per day.

The Atlanta Journal estimates the returns received by Georgia growers from these two crops so far at ten million dollars.

LIGHTNING MISSES STROTHER PARK

But Smashes Chimney Within A Few Feet of Him In Storm Early Wednesday

Strother Park, well known farmer on the Tate's Creek pike had a close call from death when lightning struck a chimney in his home about 3:30 o'clock Wednesday.

Mr. Park was aroused by the severe storm that was raging and went to a window to pull it down to keep the rain out. Just as he did so, a bolt of lightning struck the chimney, right by his side. The bricks and rocks came tumbling down for the chimney was rent in twain but Mr. Park luckily escaped both the shock and injury from the falling debris.

The chimney was torn to bits, but the lightning seemed to have spent its force there for the house luckily did not catch fire from an electric spark, as is usually the case when a bolt strikes a house. The damage can easily be repaired.

Mr. Park received quite a shock, but that was all.

The electric storm was accompanied by a heavy rainfall, which seems to have been general over a wide section.

TO DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF RICHMOND

I have done all I could to see each voter personally, but have been very busy with other matters and there are a number that I have not been able to see. I therefore, make this, my last appeal to you for your support and influence in my race for Chief of Police of Richmond, Ky., in the primary election, to be held Saturday, August 6th, 1921.

If you elect me I will use every effort in my power to see that all ordinances and laws governing the city of Richmond are enforced. I believe in order to have a clean city we must and should elect clean men to office.

I have had considerable experience as a Police officer and that experience will greatly help me in enforcing the law, so that all violators of the law will know that they cannot break the law with impunity, for if they do, punishment will surely follow; and I appeal to the women voters for their help, for I know that they are most vitally interested in the moral cleanliness of our city. We have laws sufficient to keep peace and good order in the city, and if I am elected you will have a better and cleaner city and one that you will be proud of. Thanking you for anything you may do for me, I am

Yours most truly,

JAMES POTTS

ALL ROADS LEAD TO BEREFA FAIR

Cooler Weather Seems Assured But Candidates Are Expected To Make Things Hot

Races Postponed To Thursday
Owing to the rain, which drenched the track at the Berefa fair grounds Wednesday morning it was decided to postpone the races until Thursday morning. Secretary E. T. Fish telephoned the Daily Register asking that such announcement be made. The crowd was considered unusually good for the first day and considering the weather and indications are that there will be record attendance the other two days. Nearly everybody in this section of the state goes to the Berefa fair to meet his or her friends.

All roads lead to the big Berefa Fair today.

The rains of Tuesday night seem over, and have cooled the atmosphere somewhat so that it promises to be pleasant for the fair-goers.

As usual, the principle shows of first day are in the floral hall or ladies work department. Ribbons will be tied on these exhibits. The better baby contest is a feature of the first day also.

President Johnson and Secretary Fish and their excellent directors have worked hard to make the fair a complete success, and they deserve the encouragement of all.

One of the big features of the fair will be airplane flights daily by Lieut. Aaron Coates in Com's big machine. Passengers will be taken up, and stunts shown over the fair grounds.

It is expected that a large part of the attendance each of the three days will be furnished by the candidates for county offices, who will be present in force, telling the good people why they deserve their votes. The ring program for the first day exclusive of the floral hall awards will be as follows:

Best summer dressed baby under two years, $5.

Most complete and simplest maid's layette, $5.

Searest normal weight and measure, boy or girl, under two years old (Bureau of Health standards); free physical examination made; one dozen photographs by C. L. Ogg, Berefa, Ky. Nurses and doctors in attendance.

Best girl rider under 15 years, 1st $5; 2nd $2.50.

Fancy single pony turnout driven by boy or girl, pony not over 50 inches high; 1st $5; 2nd $2.50.

2:23 trot or pace, three best in five heats; $200.

TO PUT CRACK NINE ON FIELD THURSDAY

"Red" Roberts' nine from Danville is sure to be here to play the Richmond nine Thursday. The local boys are making preparations for this game. Jim Parks is to be on the bill for the locals, and either Barker from Irvine or Heiber from Lexington, will be on the receiving end. Jim Lackey and Earle Combs, former Normal players, are also coming back to play this game with the Richmond bunch. The local boys on this team are confident that they can hit "Tot" Frank and are going to be out there trying with their might and main. There were only two members of the real Danville team that played in the other Danville game, but both showed up well and judging from the looks of these players and the way Frank treated the Lexington Reos, this game is going to be one of the best of the season.
